The candidates squared off in a debate in the eastern part of the 18th Congressional District, which was once held by retiring Rep. Tim Murphy (R), and includes the Pittsburgh area and the city of northern Allegheny County. The district has been Republican since it was redrawn after the 2010 census. President Trump carried it by 19 points and Murphy, who lost his bid for a third term in the 2016 election, won it by 14 points

What's New In?

Intuitive interface Fully configurable Automatically detect when new versions are available Monitor multiple versions (optional) Automatically download the new version for you (optional) Associate update channels (default) When you start chkUpdate it will scan the GitHub project page of your software, and then display the update frequency of the last 100 commits.

You can easily perform ad-hoc checks, by choosing which projects to monitor. You can edit the default settings, specifying the default update channel, the size of the window that will be displayed, and the default branch to be used. You can monitor the changes of more than one branch, and you can also configure that it will check the default branch if it can't find any other project to do so. The latest version of chkUpdate can also download the new version of your software for you. If you use Windows, and if you also use Visual Studio (Visual Studio Code), you can also have the update frequency for multiple projects embedded in the editor's user interface for a more natural debugging session. chkUpdate uses Selenium webdriver to perform the actual updates, so it will not affect the use of your other project tools. chkUpdate has been tested on Windows 7, 8, 10 and macOS. chkUpdate License Copyright (c) 2016 - 2020 Akos Marjai chkUpdate is free software: you can redistribute it and/or modify it under the terms of the GNU General Public License as published by the Free Software Foundation, either version 3
