uild,indir,b,Master,cam,X5.CHICAGO — A popular blueberry restaurant in the Midwest will be closed for the foreseeable future, the owner said on Monday. Peggy Barker, owner of the restaurant at Lincoln and Blue Island avenues in Chicago, said that her parents have been battling cancer and their health needs have taken precedence. “I think it’s best not to do business for long periods of time,” Barker told the Chicago Sun-Times. Barker was hit with this unexpected setback just as she’s been working on improving her restaurant’s food and service. After she bought the restaurant in 2004, she expanded the menu to include foods like panini, stuffed sandwiches and soups. She also began to offer dinners and brunch on the weekends. She has partnered with the United Nations to add local, free-range, organic food to their menu. “It’s a crime, really,” Barker said. “It’s not fair.” Barker said that her parents were in bad shape when she bought the restaurant, but they have now seemed to improve. Before her parents were diagnosed with cancer, the restaurant did well, she said, but it seemed to have slowed down in the last few months.Q: regex/javascript - Extract string between curly braces in a string and create new string by combining the extracted string

I have strings like these : let string1 = '{name1} Bill is here.'; let string2 = '{name2} We are waiting for you.'; and then I want to add a variable to the string (for now I only need to add something to the end of the string, maybe later I can start to replace some words from the string by another from a database. for now I just want to get the name1 and name2 of the string and add to it this variable I want to add to
