Growth of real estate in India continues Modal title We had embarked on a journey to highlight the opportunity in the Indian real estate space. The sudden economic turnaround in 2007 led to a huge spurt in domestic and international demand, and the need for a better understanding of this demand was stressed. This led to considerable funding, and growing emphasis in academic institutions. The once hostile real estate industry has become a lot friendlier to investors, especially domestic investors. What we brought to the table in 2007 was an attempt to create a solution in real estate for a better understanding of its present and potential. With the opening up of the real estate sector, we have seen a lot of acceleration of activity in the last 4–5 years, for example, in Gurgaon, Bangalore and Noida, NCR. This acceleration has brought with
