December 15, 2015 Olive - A Soothing And Restorative Exercise

Our sage is not very high, just a few feet above the ground - and we've had no rain this year in New Mexico. The cold winter has frozen the snow, so we don't get to walk it off. We've enjoyed the view from the sunroom today of the frozen surface of the cottonwoods to the southwest of us. But our sage has some swelling and some dewiness, and we're going to take a sage bath tonight. Dressed for a bath, the kids are excited to "soak in the smell," just like their Grandma would have them do. Like their Grandma. The teens knew this was coming, and they ran up the stairs to get their sage bottles. There were four in the house - the boys get their sage "sniff bottles" from our local farmers market. We have a whole home herb market here

Dire Grove Collector's Edition for Windows PC. The Collector's Edition for AC Repair 2 PC game is. is troubled. -- BOSTON CIVIL WARS - A section of Bunker Hill in Dorchester is being transformed into a replica of the Revolutionary War battlefield. The public is invited to explore the colonial-era streets Thursday through Saturday. -- BOSTON BUDGETS - Cuts to public schools, libraries, museums and social services could take a bite out of the local economy and individual well-being if all goes as planned. Some people, including union members, say they already have lost faith in the ability of the city to improve its finances. -- BOSTON HEALTH - The death toll from the deadly flu season is climbing, and health officials are pushing for the public to get a flu shot. One in two pediatricians in the state says they have already seen more flu patients this season than last. -- BOSTON MYSTERY - The Boston

Marathon bombing suspect's personal Twitter account is filled with references to al-Qaida and violent militant groups, and one theme is modern technology. Investigators have examined the media accounts of both Tamerlan and Dzhokhar Tsarnaev to identify any online communication prior to the deadly April 15 explosions that killed three people and injured more than 180 others. -- MAKING CONNECTIONS - Two local TV stations are teaming up to expand their regional focus. KYW-TV will establish a broadcast studio in Charlestown in partnership with WGBH, the Emmy-winning public-television news station in Boston. -- ONLY IN BOSTON - When people complain about the poor health of Park Plaza, they're apt to be told that it's another example of what happens when the community doesn't care. But in a state with 15 other hospitals, the Plaza Hospital is the only emergency room that, at one time or another, has received an award for being community-oriented and providing outstanding medical care. The
