The school is named for the Roman Catholic Saint Louis University, from which it was the first school in the United States to be accredited by the international Catholic Educational Association and is a national leader in school leadership programs. Loyola High School opened in September 2007, in the same town as Saint Louis University. History The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago opened its Diocesan Office in 1936 and in October 1936 announced plans for the establishment of St. Louis School in Maywood, Illinois, to be operated by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet. The first class was held in September 1937. The school was named in honor of the first American saint, Saint Louis, whose feast day, October 14, is celebrated by the Roman Catholic Church. The school was formed by the merger of the St. Louis School for Girls and the St. Louis Central Catholic High School for Boys. Classes were initially held in the

The ability of supplemental dietary fats to act as carcinogens or tumor promoters is well known. There is also a substantial body of evidence that suggests that some fats can exert more physiologically relevant effects on important markers of chemical carcinogenesis, such as lipid peroxidation and DNA damage. Since the National Toxicology Program has shown that a dietary protocol of excess fat alters the response to a known carcinogen, it is hypothesized that these effects can be seen in a dietary protocol of nutrient restriction. If so, then dietary lipids should interact with an essential nutrient such as folate, which is critical to cell growth and detoxification.Pete's Mailing List THE WALLPAPER OF THE WEEK! I am a Starnine fan, but I got one issue with this great illustration, from the mysterious artist, Peter M. Todd, who has been painting and publishing the Starnine Watchman since 1996. His main theme in all of his work is the understanding that somehow Starnine's mystery, and its attached world of Zembla, must be fully understood by its inhabitants. He's right, but he lost me in this issue. At first glance, it appears that Zembla is just another lonely planet on the edge of existence, with a few orbital paths that are obviously non-functional and are left, as if by design, for future possibilities. But wait! That star-like object, below Starnine's physical orbit, is a planet, and it's definitely home to something, perhaps other than what seems to be portrayed in this illustration. I was missing something, I just didn't know what it was yet, but I know I wasn't happy with what I saw. I eventually figured it out when Starnine's moon, back to the right of the illustration, passes through the ominous star, and it's a rather big moon! It appears to be the only planet in this part of the universe, but it
