Recognition of objects in the image and their position in the image.Enantioselective biocatalytic alkene reduction with thermostable and immobilized achiral alkylsuccinate dehydrogenase from Lactobacillus brevis. Achiral alkylsuccinate dehydrogenase (ASUD) from Lactobacillus brevis was successfully immobilized onto various hydrophobic supports to be used in the enantioselective bioreduction of alkenes. The ASUD-immobilized supports were characterized in terms of enzyme activity, stability, operational parameters, and enantioselectivity of the immobilized ASUDs. The behavior of the immobilized ASUDs was similar to the free enzyme, and significant improvements of the operational stability (approximately 5-8-fold) and enantioselectivity (up to 89.2% ee, >1000-fold) were achieved. The immobilized ASUD was highly useful in the bioreduction of a wide range of simple alkenes, providing an efficient and robust system for the enantioselective reduction of these compounds.The present invention relates to a semiconductor memory device and, more particularly, to a semiconductor memory device having an internal clock generator circuit for generating an internal clock signal
