Adobe is in the midst of an unbridled push towards cloud-based solutions. Don't get me wrong, I'm all for cloud-based services like Dropbox and Magisto. But when this becomes your primary way of creating and sharing files, expect to be one of those people who get burned! This is the third application I've worked on for Adobe, and it's the biggest update to Photoshop in quite a while. The main addition is warp tools, which lets you distort images by drawing freehand around select areas and then moving the canvas against the selection. A feature that works in one way, yet is totally ingenious when used in another. As you create shapes by drawing, it automatically removes select objects that get in your way. You're free to move your image, zoom in or out, and place the canvas anywhere on the screen.

Designing for the web is one of the most exciting fields in which to work right now. And what's really exciting is that you can create websites and other website elements like Google Chrome bookmarks, on short notice, without paying Photoshop's hefty price tag.

Nice review but after upgrading to LR5.2 RC I think performance is better than with LR4. Working on a project with 1500 D800 NEFs my impression is that the smart previews increase speed while working in the Developer mode - in Lib. mode however everything slows because the JPEG previews are used. So far I am not sure how the Jpegs are used as previews when you have the smart previews (DNGs) available. But have to say that I am happy with 5.2 RC although I will say bye-bye to LR the day they make it part of CC.

Regards! Sren

To set this option, do Se_ and click the layer. Setting the Fill Options will let you choose between using the fill applied to these layers, or using the color that you are using. Like the Layer Style Options, these are found in the Edit menu in Photoshop. Keep in mind that the Fill Options do not work with the Appearance tab.
